Come Early Class, Thursday, August 23      Stay and Sew Day, Monday August 27

As summer wanes, transitions into cooler weather, fall activities, and holiday preparations receive a hearty welcome. The colors and textures of a new season's fabrics whet our interest and nudge us to sew for the children in our lives. Vaune and Cindy invite you to join them at Mount St. Joseph Retreat Center, in Maple Mount, Kentucky, for three days of superb instruction centered around two adorable outfits guaranteed to ease a young girl's wardrobe into fall with traditional comfort and style. The weekend offers a casual, relaxed atmosphere with plenty of time to sew. Step away from your busy life, re-connect with sewing buddies, meet new friends and focus on learning, stitching, and honing your skills. Of course, fun, food, and fellowship with kindred spirits is assured.

The pre-day, “Come Early”, class on Thursday will feature a charming accessory to co-ordinate with the projects Cindy and Vaune have planned. Linger a while longer through Monday noon for the “Stay and Sew Day” to sew on your wardrobe.

Mount St. Joseph is located about 20 minutes outside of Owensboro, Kentucky, and within a three to four hour drive from Nashville, Indianapolis, St. Louis, and Cincinnati; Atlanta is about six hours away. The retreat center has air conditioning, an elevator, and sleeping rooms with private baths. Single room availability is limited.

Friday - Sunday Fee: $595 (Double)      $645 Single

Fee includes: 18 hours of instruction; all inclusive kits for 2 projects, lodging for 3 nights in double-room accommodations (see additional fee for single room), and eight meals.

“Come Early Class” Fee: $195 (includes kit, lodging for 1 night and meals)

“Stay and Sew Day” Fee: $110 (includes lodging for Sunday night and meals through noon on Monday)
